

Writer's Resource

Sites you can publish their work

<http://www.helium.com/>

If you are tired of having to read publishers' minds for query letters that get ignored or if you want to break into freelancing but don't have a body of clips to show yet, Helium's Marketplace is for you.

<http://yousaytoo.com/>

YouSayToo.com is great place for communication, discussions, meeting new friends, liberalizing, getting famous on the web, making posts on YST and earning money from Google AdSense ad rotations!

www.associatedcontent.com

AC invites you to participate. Contribute content on any topic you choose, get discovered by a new audience and even earn payments.

<http://hubpages.com/>

Welcome to HubPages, where you can easily publish information on a topic you love to write about.

<http://www.squidoo.com/>

Create a "lens" on any topic

<http://www.flixya.com/>

A social network that puts 100% ad revenue in your pocket. We've built the tools for you to share your videos, photos, and blogs. Your place to make friends, earn money, network and more.

<http://www.xomba.com/>

Xomba is an online community for people to share ideas, make friends and get paid to write. Xomba has been designed for people looking for information and aspiring writers who are trying to get published.

<http://www.triond.com>

You may create interesting content on any topic, in any language, and in any media format. You can submit articles you have written, videos and pictures you have shot, and podcasts or original music that you have recorded.

<http://www.oondi.com/>

Oondi is a place for writers to publish their work, without having to worry about anything else. This allows them to focus on the writing itself instead of having to build a website, find visitors, find a reliable host, monetizing the traffic and so on. Readers get free and easy access to all this information.

<http://www.scribd.com/>

Scribd is a Silicon Valley startup creating technology that makes it easy to share documents online. You can think of Scribd as a big online library where everyone can publish original content, including you!

<http://www.articletrader.com/>

Let us distribute your article to hundreds more quality articles directories like this one.

<http://articles.savvify.com/>

We're looking for passionate people to write interesting articles that stir the reader's emotions. It must come from your heart and it should make your readers feel more hopeful, connected, thankful and better about life in general. Engage your readers. Inspire them and leave them with a valuable lesson in the end.

<http://ezinearticles.com>

Expert Authors & Writers are able to post their articles to be featured within the site.

<http://www.articleonramp.com/>

Business owners, want to promote your business or Web site? Establish yourself as an expert in your industry by submitting articles in your area of expertise.

Creative Writing

<http://www.gather.com/>

Gather is a place where you can share what inspires you. Meet others whose interests overlap with your own, or learn something new. Your unique voice will be heard through the articles, images, or video you publish on the very things you know and love.

<http://www.booksie.com/>

Share Your Poems, Short Stories, and Novels with the world.

<http://www.voicesnet.com/>

Poetry community site.

<http://www.glypho.com/>

Collaborative writing site.

<http://thisisby.us>

thisisby.us is a website that promotes excellent writing. anyone can sign up and write. the community votes on the best content.

<http://www.editred.com/>

Upload your writing in minutes, receive peer feedback from other writers, poets, authors, then get your work published out there in the real world.

<http://www.poetrysoup.com>

Free international poetry community

<http://www.writersdock.org/>

Writing forums

<http://www.greatwriting.co.uk/>

The idea behind Great Writing is simple; sign up, submit a piece of creative writing, and allow others to offer advice and constructive criticism. This is supported by a general discussion area where you can promote your work, ask questions about all aspects of writing and publishing, or just chew the fat with friends.

<http://www.writelink.co.uk/> publish your short stories, poems, articles and book chapters for review and critique.

<http://www.todays-woman.net/>

Writing community for women

<http://www.writingforums.com/>

one of the fastest growing writing communities on the web

<http://www.protagonize.com/>

Protagonize is a creative writing community dedicated to the (nearly) lost art of the addventure, a type of collaborative interactive fiction. One author writes a story, and others post branches to it in different directions. The result is an organic, evolving story where everyone can participate.

<http://www.soulscribe.com/>

We are a free creative writing community. Register for free to submit your writing. Talk to fellow users to grow & critique each other as writers.

<http://www.gspoetry.com/>

GS Poetry is a poetry-social networking community where poets and poetry fans can read, submit and perform poetry. We have 20 categories to choose from to submit poems, upload audio recordings and create collaborative works. Registered members can submit, rate, comment and rank poems.

<http://www.sky-tribe.com/>

Sky-Tribe is a Writing Community for lovers of Sci-Fi & Fantasy

<http://www.urbis.com/>

Urbis is a creative community with three types of users: creative people, those who love and support creative people, and those who have opportunities for creative people.

<http://lifelenz.com/>

LifeLenz is where families, professionals, non-profit organizations, creative types like writers and artists, and just “plain folk” can get together, share their stories, and see life from a new perspective.

<http://www.1000keyboards.com/>

For readers and writers of short stories

<http://www.storylink.com/>

community for writers and filmmakers

<http://www.writingforums.org/>

Writing forums

<http://www.raconter.net/>

On this website you can tell (or “raconter”) us short stories, cheerful anecdotes, profound poems, or whatever. Your published texts can be read and commented by every visitor.

<http://www.onestopwriteshop.com/>

One Stop Write Shop is an online writing community where writers can publish short stories, poetry and novel chapters.

<http://www.writerscafe.org/>

Online Community For Writers

<http://www.writing.com/>

Writing.Com is the online community for writers and readers of all interests and skill levels.

<http://www.writers-network.com/>

Writers-Network allows you to write online and publish your poems in our free writing community!

<http://storymash.com/>

StoryMash is where authors start new stories, continue existing stories, or take a story in a different direction by adding a chapter to its middle! All the while earning money for every chapter they publish on StoryMash.

http://www.humblevoice.com

Humble Voice is a community of artists and those who appreciate them

<http://www.abctales.com/>

The site where you can explore and develop your creative writing skills, get support from our editors, publish your short stories and poems online, get feedback and writing tips and meet fellow writers, all for free.

